

CHANGE IN MARKING BALLOT

Cross and Circle Abolished at Head of Ticket--No More Straight Ballots

Very few of the voters of this city no doubt, are aware that there is another change in the marking of ballots which will be necessary at the coming city election. The change applies to making a straight ticket for either party. In the past a circle at head of the ticket would indicate that a voter cast his ballot for one and all under the party heading. Now the cross is abolished in the circle, and in order to vote for every party candidate the voter marks a cross opposite the name of his choice on the ticket. Every name without a cross does not count. Accordingly there will be no more straight tickets. The party designation and emblem is still retained at the head but at no election can a cross be used for straight party candidates other than presidential election when a voter can mark a cross for electors as a whole. This amendment was made by the last legislature changing the previous laws of 1897. The idea is taken as a good one and will greatly aid the ward officers in figuring out the result, besides saving a lot of disputing in case of recount, on the other hand it will require a longer time to vote.

A MILITARY FUNERAL

Ensign Charles Emerson Hovey, U. S. N., Buried With Full Naval Honors

The funeral of Ensign Charles Emerson Hovey, U. S. N., who was killed in the Philippines, while fighting for his country, was held at St. John's Episcopal church at 11 o'clock this Saturday morning. The remains were escorted from the home of his mother, Mrs. Louise F. Hovey, on State street, to the church by the U. S. Naval band and a company of blueackets. The full Episcopal funeral service, with the committal at the grave was rendered by Rt. Rev. William Niles, Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire, assisted by Rev. Harold M. Folsom, rector. Many friends of the popular young officer were present to pay their last tribute of respect. Following the impressive church service burial took place in St. John's church yard. A bugler sounded taps and three farewell volleys were fired as the body was lowered in its last resting place. The pall bearers were Surgeon C. G. Smith, U. S. N., Assistant Paymaster M. H. Philbrick, U. S. N., Second Lieutenant R. T. Zane, U. S. N., Ensign R. K. Muir, U. S. N., Ensign F. P. Conser, U. S. N., Eight blueackets acted as body bearers. Ensign G. E. Baker, U. S. N., was in charge of the funeral procession and O. W. Ham was the funeral director. Ensign Charles Emerson Hovey, U. S. N., was born in Portsmouth, N. H., January 10th, 1885. Educated in the public schools and in Holderness School, Plymouth, N. H., and attended Mass. Institute of Technology in 1902. He entered the Naval Academy in 1903 and graduated "with credit" 1907. Mr. Hovey was president of the Academy Young Men's Christian Association. He was on the U. S. S. Ohio in the famous world cruise. In April 1910 he sailed on the U. S. S. New York for the Asiatic station, cruising around China and Japan, during which time he climbed Fugui Yama. He was transferred to the U. S. S. Mindoro Oct. 1910, and to the U. S. S. Pampanza in April 1911. At the request of the authorities on Sept. 17th he landed with 21 men from his ship to cooperate with Major Finley in an attack on a band of Moro outlaws. On Sept. 24th with only seven men he attacked a camp of about 30 Moros. They killed seven and put the rest to flight. Mr. Hovey was killed and three of his men wounded. He was a member of the Delta Psi Fraternity, N. Y. Yacht club and Lambs Club of N. Y., and the Racquet Club of Philadelphia, and he had been proposed as a member of the Royal Geographical Society. He was the author of "Watch Officers' Manual, U. S. Navy." He leaves a mother and four sisters, Miss Sallie Hovey, Mrs. Seabury, wife of William M. Seabury of New York, Mrs. Kautz, wife of Lieut. Comdr. Austin Kautz, U. S. N., and Mrs. Klyce, wife of Lieut. Scudder Klyce, U. S. N., and was a nephew of Samuel D. Folsom, William H. Folsom of New York city.

A GREAT SHOW

Strong Vaudeville Program at Music Hall This Evening. Those who do not attend the performance at Music hall this evening will miss a genuine treat. The musical comedy by Bouillon and Quinn is one of the finest acts that has been presented at the hall this season. Nellie Moran in her character sketch and singing must also be seen to be appreciated. In addition to the strong vaudeville program there are five reels of the latest motion pictures and illustrated songs by Miss Beatrice Drew. It's a big show for a little money.

I WONDER

Where the man with the whistle has gone that has been blowing all the blowing on the new bank building? Why Port Constitution cannot produce a football team as well as a baseball team? What they are going to do in ward four? Why the gang all gathered at Mike's on Friday night? Why Portsmouth cannot have a reduction in gas rates which many of the surrounding cities are getting? If that chief petty officer of the U. S. S. Montana has found the mate to that pet crow? If there isn't likely to be some opposition for the place of official city sealer this year? If Capt. Muchmore of the Franklin Pierce has the old machine safely packed away and every provision made against the Crocks? Why steamer No. 2 Company decided not to run a ball this year? If it was on the question of rent? Why some of the work at the railroad repair shops here is to be cut out? What the postal savings bank is doing for business nowadays? Who will be Santa Claus for the Gimlet Club? If there is not something doing among the candidates for the public works board? If the Boston and Maine will give Portsmouth any consideration in the way of improvements after the big job at Lynn is completed? Will the Labor organizations endorse any other local candidates for office? If that raffle for the duck at the west end was not without some amusing points? When the police force appointments will come along? If it's not about time to hunt up some work for the navy yard? If it won't be a quiet Christmas for some of those now employed there unless something comes along? If the captain will really produce that book, "Portsmouth Inside Out."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Steps Being Taken to Form One in This City

The Herald learns from a reliable source that articles of incorporation have been drawn for the formation of a Portsmouth Historical society. The project is being fostered by persons who have for a long time taken a deep interest in the historical matters of this city. No city in the state is so rich in historical treasures and steps toward the formation of a historical society should have been taken years ago.

Proceedings of the New Hampshire State Charities

The Cardinals have two reasons for being famous in St. Louis. They are the only club managed by a woman and the only team that lost a series to the Browns. And up to the time that train wreck in which the Cardinals were the heroes, this same writer was telling the Cardinals would be the National League champions for 1911. After that wreck the Cardinals slumped and the writers are not through knocking yet.

BITS OF SPORT

The game to have been played at the South playgrounds this afternoon between the Portsmouth and Deerfield high schools has been cancelled. Likewise the game between the U. S. S. Tennessee and Fort McKinley elevens.

Harvard scored her last touchdown against Yale in 1901 and Yale has not rushed the ball across Harvard's goal line since 1907. The Elis, however, secured a safety in 1909.

If Walter Camp, Sr., wants Walter Camp Jr., to be Yale next football captain he will undoubtedly secure the honor. If on the other hand, the sure of New Haven does not wish his son to be laid open to possible criticism of having been elected at his father's command, Young Camp will probably remain in the ranks.

The Army and Navy will fight it out this afternoon in their annual football contest and the game is sure to be a hard fought one. On the showing of the teams this fall the Army should be returned the winner, but the favorites have been given severe jolts in the big games this fall and there is no telling what may happen.

The Cornell players and students are very sore over the defeat handed the team by Chicago last Saturday, after the winning from Michigan week before and the coaches have driven the Cornell players hard during the last few days. A win from Pennsylvania will make the season a fairly successful one and the best in years, and Cornell will never have a better chance to get away with the long sought Penn victory than she has this year. This game with the Quakers has always been attended by a sort of a hoodoo for the Blue.

SIXTY LIVES LOST IN RAILROAD WRECK

Train Plunges Through Bridge in France With Horrible Results.

Saumur, France, Nov. 24.—Sixty passengers, it is estimated, lost their lives through the plunging of a train into the river Thouet this morning, owing to the breakdown of a railroad bridge on the state railway at Montrouilly-Hellay in the department of Maine-et-Loire.

The train, which had started from Angers, was travelling to Poitiers. It contained about 100 passengers. While it was crossing the bridge over the Thouet the structure, which had been recently weakened by recent floods, broke down; crashing with the whole of the cars into the swollen stream.

Many of the passengers who succeeded in getting out of the cars through the windows tried to save themselves by clinging desperately to the tops of trees which showed above the surface of the water. In most cases, however, they were quickly washed away by the rushing current.

All the boats in the locality had been carried off by the inhabitants, so that it was impossible for the people of the neighborhood to assist much in the work of rescue.

No exact information is yet available as to the number of victims or as to those rescued but it is believed that between 50 and 60 have been drowned.

Ten corpses have been recovered at various points of the river. Three of the cars immediately disappeared under the water, but the roof of a fourth car still is visible above the surface. Eleven persons, including some children were still clinging to this in the afternoon and thousands of people lined the banks watching them, but were unable to render aid.

Several small boats made a number of ineffectual attempts to rescue them. The occupants ran perilous risks and the boats were nearly swamped on several occasions.

EXETER.

Many dates are being fixed here for the social events for the coming season. Following the meeting to be held by St. Michael's society Monday and Tuesday evening of next week, Hook and Ladder company No. 1 is planning to hold a ball on New Year's night. The exact arrangements are not complete, but a committee, consisting of Joseph Kershaw, Carl Haugen, William Wetherell, George F. Lord and Edward Moore is working for the success of the occasion.

John L. Elliott, Ph. D., of the Hudson guild of New York, will give the address at the academy Christian fraternity Sunday evening. This guild is one of the philanthropic organizations of New York by this line of work he is a prominent factor. Mr. Elliott has been heard in Exeter previously and is remembered as an interesting speaker.

Recent rains have swollen the streams and wells in this section and they are now in a much better condition than they were two weeks ago.

The water works reservoir has been raised two feet and two inches and its level is now only seven inches below the required mark. Thus the fear that the ground is likely to close with the water supply below the average is seen to be groundless.

Prof. F. W. Cushman will conduct

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills Are Violent They Act on Bowels as Pepper Acts on Nerves

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You, men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A laxative box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

The Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too. You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and retwick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

It is surprising how much more endurable a cold spell is when there is no snow upon the ground. More endurable, of course, than all except the comfortable few provided with sleighs. Scores of people who own a horse and carriage do not own a sleigh because of the shortness of the sleighing season in this vicinity.

The Republican ticket as a whole is an exceptionally strong one. The issues are drawn on strictly party lines. There is a sentiment abroad that municipal elections ought not to be conducted upon partisan issues. Theoretically this sentiment is defensible but practically, this year, however, it may be in the future, the voters of Portsmouth are to be asked according to their beliefs in political matters in their vote for municipal offices. There is no reason, such being the case, why the full Republican ticket may not receive the cordial and hearty support of all members of the Republican party.

It will be of interest to local owners of small boats, of all descriptions to know that the Weather Bureau has adopted an additional signal to known as the "Small Craft Warning". This warning will consist of a red pennant by which the motor, fishing and yachting craft will be notified of the coming of any strong wind, but of severe enough to warrant sending out regular storm signals. The red pennant will be flown as occasion demands beginning Dec. 1. Had the new ruling been in effect this month the Weather Bureau would have worn out several red pennants for it has been an almost unprecedented November of high winds.

It is asserted that in the United States more murders are committed each year, pro rata, than in any other "civilized" and Christian country. There are points in the Canadian government that we might do well to study, particularly as to the methods of dealing out punishment to the wealthy and influential criminal with the same hand that terrifies the poor man. Over the boundary line which includes stretches of hundreds of miles inhabited chiefly by big game and renegade men, with but an occasional mounted policeman to represent the law, Canada records but seven murders per year to 20 million inhabitants, while in the United States there are 18 times as many or 126.

The story of the capitalist who went to New York and got rid of $10,000,000 in three months makes those stories of Broadway spenders seem like very cheap fiction.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

The Immigration Problems
There can be at least, reciprocity of opinion between the United States and the Dominion of Canada as to the necessity in both countries of closer supervision of immigration. It may be said, indeed, that an agreement of this nature exists already. We find for instance, almost simultaneously with the appearance of the annual report of Immigration Commissioner Williams of the port of New York, in which strong argument is made in behalf of more stringent inspection, that a special commissioner of immigration has been appointed in Canada with a view to reform of the methods now followed in relation to the admission of immigrants into that country. And so it is further that the conditions calling for attention and correction in both countries are practically the same, save in one respect touch upon by Commissioner Williams when he says: "The new immigration, unlike that of earlier years, proceeds in part from southern and eastern Europe. . . . with customs and institutions widely different from ours and without the capacity of assimilating with our people as did the early immigrants." Fewer of this class in proportion to the whole are arriving in Canadian ports, but, taking the other causes of complaint in the neighboring country, they seem to be an echo of those heard here.

THE TRUE TEST

Tried in Portsmouth It Has Stood the Test
The hardest test is the test of time and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Portsmouth. Kidney sufferers hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:
Clinton R. Hurd 136 Hill street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I have no hesitation in verifying the statement I gave for publication in 1905, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, as the cure they effected has been permanent. I suffered from sharp pains in my back and was often unable to arise from a chair without assistance. I felt tired all the time and there was soreness across my loins. The contents of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I bought at the local drug store, were taken as directed and I continued taking them until I was cured. I now recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

The rails on the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, between Suncook and Candia, will be removed this week, to be laid on the new line via Manchester. The Concord Statesman says, during the interim of communication, the passenger traffic will be obliged to content itself with the stage which plies between Manchester and Candia.
Commander Henry K. Thatcher for the last two years the executive officer at Charlestown, Mass., has been ordered to the command of the U. S. sloop-of-war Constellation, now nearly ready for sea at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.
Mr. Thomas P. Jones, of Augusta, Me., has been appointed Master Mate U. S. N., and ordered to the sloop-of-war Portsmouth, now at this station.
Hon. Horton D. Walker of this city, has for a week or two past been seriously ill of typhoid fever, in New York. His numerous friends will be glad to learn that he is deemed to be convalescent.

Tomorrow is City Election day in Portsmouth. We are glad Mayor Simes has consented to be re-elected. The democratic candidate is not yet nominated. Our city has generally been exceedingly fortunate in the selection of city officers, especially Mayors, but we think we never had, and need not ask for a better city government than that in office during the present year. We don't care what party claims the officers, so long as they do the best for the people.
The Mayor and Aldermen always have infinitely more to do than is generally known; and this year there has been considerable extra business, growing out of various public improvements to which we have from time to time alluded, the volunteer service, etc. But we believe that all the duties have been faithfully performed, and that the verdict of their townsmen tomorrow will be generally re-election. We should have chosen Union (no-party) for all-party nominations, but it can't be, we are always in favor of retaining faithful and competent public (as private) officials in these places, the duties of which they have learned.

A detachment of Marines for the U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth, were sent to this city from the Charlestown Navy Yard, on Friday afternoon last.
We see that Mrs. H. Brown, the author of that admirable hymn commencing, "I love to steal awhile away," died on the 10th of October, at Henry, Ill., aged 78 years and 5 months. She has left an enviable memorial in that stately hymn.

P. T. Barnum, Esq., of New York, will address the Sons of Temperance in Portland, on the 3d of December the anniversary of the Sons of Temperance in that city.
Correction.—It was stated in the paper is expected to deal with a class that is unwilling to make a living by working for it and another class that is unable to do so. "Already," says a Toronto contemporary, "Canada has too many people who left other countries to make their living here by their wits, or at occupations of little or no usefulness, or by appeals to benevolence." There is here there are others who are industrially inclined, but are without the skill or the financial means to make their way in the pursuits to which they wish to apply themselves.
It is likely to be difficult in either country to bring about all desirable reforms in this respect for the influences to be contended with are far reaching and powerful while the arguments in behalf of a liberal interpretation of restrictive measures are serious and designed especially to affect and prejudice the ignorant. But much of the evil resulting from a too free inflow of immigrants would be eliminated were it not for the disposition of the newly arrived to flock at points where it is most difficult to absorb their labor. "Over three fifths," says Commissioner Williams, "remains in five eastern states while an undue proportion are pouring into the congested areas of our large cities, where they begin their American life among unfavorable surroundings and exposed to many evil influences." This is the phase of the problem that in both the United States and Canada calls for the earliest and most serious attention. With anything like proper disposition of the arrivals many of the present causes for alarm and complaint with regard to immigration would disappear, because the countries are wide and capable of workmen in the matter of developing good citizenship where the opportunity presents itself.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Observer
HOW ABOUT IT, MEN

A man once wrote a poem, 'twas a grim, sarcastic bit. They criticised and parodied with unrelenting wit. 'twas but a single line, that they assembled to assail. The female of the species is more deadly than the male.
Oh, what's the matter with the male, that one of them should weep. About his wrongs by daylight, and sleep talking in his sleep? The stone-age husband used a rock and tied it with a thong. And kept all his relations where he thought they should belong.
The Latin in his tepee knows exactly who is boss. His wife works to support him, and for pasture feeds the boss. But modern man tries hard to please, and then puts up a wall. And says the haughty female is more deadly than the male.

Oh are we molluscoides to be bullied and betrayed. And pitted by some poet as he plies his artful trade? I've we turned to 'telly scolding from old chivalry so fine, and buried our pretensions 'neath a single spiteful line?

Counting the stamps on stampers, envelopes, postal cards and newspaper wrappers, over 1,000,000,000 postage stamps, or more than a thousand for every man, woman and child in the country, are issued every year. These range in value from 1 cent to $1. The average stamp user never has seen a $5 stamp, yet more than 30,000 of them are sold each year, while over 90,000 $1 stamps pass through the stamp windows of the country. In years gone by the government issued a stamp worth $100. It was a newspaper stamp, and was never seen by the public. It was placed on the book in the office of the dispatching postmaster and cancelled there. All newspaper stamps have been discontinued.
The story of the origin of the postage stamp has in it a pleasing little romance. Some 65 years ago Row and Hill was staying at an English inn when the daughter of the landowner received a letter by mail. Looking it over from one end to the other he inquired of the postman what the charges were. He replied that it was shilling. She did not have the money to pay the charges and Hill said then for her. Afterward she told him she was sorry he had done it, that she and her lover had evoked a little code of their own by which they put their message on the outside of the letters and thus could end them through the mails without paying, allowing the postal authorities to destroy the letters after they had looked them over and refused to pay the charges. This put Hill to thinking and the pay in advance stamp was the result.

The faithful horse has not yet succumbed to the advance in motor vehicles, and his day does not appear yet on the wane. The cost of maintenance is the rock upon which a spirit the more general adoption of traction vehicles. New tires cost money and some large concerns while experimenting with motor vehicles have not demonstrated that they are on the whole cheaper than horses, with all the expense for fodder and shoeing. Some of us thought when electricity succeeded the horse on street railroads that horses would be a drug in the market, but they are as costly if not more so than ever.

A number of men in Boston are trying to form a society for the purpose of having severe sentence imposed upon reckless drivers of automobiles. One man wants the infamia to be $100 and the second $200 with at least six months' imprisonment. A good deal of what seems to be a recklessness in judging automobiles is really clear ignorance. Any person who buys an automobile can get a license to operate it without being subjected to an examination as to fitness. Naturally, incompetent drivers are in charge of machines and accident must result. Instead of imposing severe punishment upon drivers who appear to be reckless, the highway commissioners should start at the root of the trouble and impose tests that will require a high experience with automobile before licenses are given. Good judgment and capability are needed in running a motor car. A lot of drivers think so. All they know is that they can run at high speed if nothing gets in their way.

Even before the smoke of the last war battle blew away the clouds of the major leagues were preparing for the season of 1912.

Some of the clubs have big buildings, enterprises upon their hands, a few had or still have managers to select for their teams while nearly all have a big job of house cleaning in order to get rid of a lot of surplus players.
Three American league clubs are either building brand new parks or are constructing new stands at the old ones. The Detroit club has secured a long term lease of Bennett park, where the Tigers under Hughy Jennings have won three pennants, and up to date concrete and steel structures are now being erected which will hold upward of 20,000 persons.
The new parks will be at Boston and New York. Work on both of these have been begun and it is anticipated that each will be ready when the season opens next spring. Each of the latter will cost upward of half a million dollars and the seating capacity of each will probably equal that at the Polo Grounds, New York, which holds the record of more than 38,000 persons at the first world's series game between the Athletics and the Giants last month.

He was one of the old reliable conductors of the Portsmouth street railroad, popular with everybody who rode on his cars and with a reputation for courtesy and a never-failing care in the discharge of his duty. Recently, however, there was a little incident on his car that showed that the greatest of men fall, but the way in which he recovered won him even greater admiration.
He had returned to the rear end of the car after a fare-collecting tour. Suddenly he saw a woman jump up and wave frantically and like a shot he yanked the bell cord. But it wasn't quite soon enough and the woman came down the aisle with fire in her eye.
"Well, you carried me by my street. You forgot me didn't you?" she snapped at him.
"No, indeed, ma'am, no indeed," quickly responded the conductor. "I didn't forget you for a moment. I was thinking of you all the time. I just forgot to ring the bell, that's all."

How many of us realize how representative a trolley conductor gets to be. If he is of average intelligence and susceptibility he attains for politeness the average of his environment. Haven't you noticed how gentlemen, and even ladies address the conductor on the slightest provocation, and sometimes with no provocation at all? He is usually a man of perception and of feelings, and politeness, like water never attains a point above its true level. There is a vast difference in politeness of trolley conductors in different localities and I have come to believe the average of politeness in the traveling public is very well represented by the trolley man. Where people are uniformly courteous and polite, he is so, and where they are not, he is not. He becomes a fair reflector of the manners of his patrons.

Notifying the God.
One of the odd things the visitor to Burma will notice is the large number of bells about the pagodas. These bells are usually hung on sacred posts a few feet above the ground. They are sweet toned, as all Burmese bells are, but they are not furnished with tongues. The worshiper who comes to pray before the pagoda strikes one of these bells with a wooden mallet. This is to attract the attention of the God.

ENTERTAINED THE NATIONAL SECRETARY

The Portsmouth Girls' Club held a reception on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Jean Hamilton, the Secretary of the National Association of Women Workers. It was held in their pleasant suite of rooms at the top of the Rockingham bank building on Pleasant street, and there was a large attendance of the members.

Miss Hamilton assisted in the organization of this club last February and she was greatly pleased with the wonderful progress made in that time, and the excellent quarters maintained by the club. Following the formal reception, a vocal and instrumental program was given, and this was followed by dancing. Light refreshments were served.

KITTERY LETTER

Kittery, Nov. 25.
Misses Gertrude and Shirley Knight and Leon Knight of Saco have been called here by the death of their grandfather, Dummer Adams of North Kittery, whose funeral occurs this afternoon.

Miss Emma Wilson of North Kittery has been quite seriously ill, but is now slowly improving.

James Jones of Damariscotta resumed his work at the navy yard, after being restricted to the house some time with a sprained ankle.

The many friends of Mrs. John Moore of Concord, N. H., formerly Moore of Concord, will be sorry to learn that she is seriously ill at the Cottage hospital in Concord. It is the wish of several here that all who are acquainted would send her a postal card to help brighten the days to be spent at this institution.

Mrs. Lizzie Getchell still remains very ill.

Catholic meetings will be held tomorrow morning at the usual hour at Grange Hall.

At the Second Methodist church tomorrow, Rev. A. J. Hayes will take as the subject of his sermon at 10:30, "Lights." Sunday school will follow at 12, U. G. Swett, superintendent. Vespers at 5 and the subject will be, "The Making of a Man," as illustrated from Harold Bell Wright's latest book, "The Winning of Barbara Worth." A general invitation to all young people to attend this service as matters of vital importance will be discussed, then meeting of the Epworth League, follows at 6, the topic to be "Meditation, Responsibility to America." Everybody welcome.

Dummer Adams, who died Thursday night, is survived by a son, Charles Adams of Rogers Road, and Mrs. Ida Knight of Saco.

Services at the Second Christian church tomorrow as usual. Preaching at 10:30 and 7. Sunday school at 12, M. G. Ford, superintendent.

Christian Endeavor service at 6, topic, "Echoes of peace and blessing," leader, Mrs. Henry Thompson. Special music at preaching service by Miss Charlotte M. Bickford and Albert L. Sprague. Everybody invited. Seats free.

A call has been extended to Rev. Arnaldo Natino of Portsmouth to become permanent pastor of this church, and he will begin his work at once. He has supplied here a number of times during the past few months, and is well liked by his hearers.

The newly formed sewing class met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Victor Hulsea on Love lane. Any girl in the village around the age of fourteen is invited to join this class.

Quite a number from this town went to Cambridge today to witness the Harvard-Yale football game.

The Crystal Chapter of the Epworth League will give an entertainment and progressive Bell Social on Wednesday evening Dec. 6, in the vestry of the Second Methodist church.

The girls' basketball team from the Training Academy so to Saco today to play the girls' team from Thornton Academy.

The Jolly Dozen Whist club will meet this week with Mrs. Henry Blake of Kittery Point and prizes were won as follows: Mrs. Theodore Parsons first, Mrs. George Gibson second and Mrs. Chester Caswell third. The next meeting will be with Miss Josephine Trevelyan, Dec. 6.

Rev. Arnaldo Natino will preach at the Second Christian church tomorrow at both services.

Mrs. Edgar Burnham of Woodlawn avenue has taken a five year old boy from the Children's Home in Biddeford. He will be remembered that her own son was killed in the terrible automobile accident at Locke's Cove a little over a year ago.

Probably the leading event of the season in musical circles will take place on Dec. 7th, when the Kittery Choral Society presents its concert on that evening. The soloists engaged are some of the leading singers of Boston, and have national reputations. Miss Evelyn G. Blay, soprano, has appeared here before in the cantata "Fair Ellen," and captivated her audience by her beautiful voice and pleasing personality.

Mrs. Edith McGrager Woods, contralto, was identified with the famous "Bostonians," and Mr. Percy F. Baker, baritone, was for a number of years with the "Temple Male Quartet." All make a fine company, and the society is to be congratulated in the selection of so fine a group of artists. The programme will consist of two cantatas, "The Village Blacksmith," by Noyes, and "The King's Daughter," by Gade.

Another with solo by the artists is the intention of the society to more than keep up the standard of excellence established by its former concerts, and the public should avail itself of this opportunity of hearing good music well interpreted.

But for the large quantities of granite constantly being shipped this season to the Portsmouth navy yard from Stonington, Maine, a resident of that place states that the stone business there would be practically at a standstill. The Goss quarry, from which the navy yard stone is shipped, is one of the largest and best equipped in the country, and the stone is also of the highest grade. At a recent test of their facilities for handling the product of the quarry, one hundred tons of granite blocks were loaded upon a vessel in just eighteen minutes, which is claimed to be the record for speed.

Capt. and Mrs. Edgar M. Frisbee returned on Thursday night from a visit to relatives in Massachusetts. The next meeting of the Navy Work club will take place at the home of Mrs. Stephen Blake, Thursday, Dec. 7.

Miss Florence Patch has recovered from her recent illness. The funeral of Harold W. Frisbee occurred at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon from his late residence. The interment took place in the Free Baptist church cemetery, O. W. Ham of Portsmouth being in charge.

Hiram Tobey has returned from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Drake, in North Hampton.

GIRLS SOB AND STOKES STORMS

Shooting Trial Opens With Picturesque Day

New York, Nov. 24—W. E. D. Stokes the millionaire hotel man who limped to the witness chair in the Supreme court to tell a jury this morning how he was shot in the legs in June by two shows girls passed from the easily guidance of his counsel to the troubles of cross-examination this afternoon.

He had not answered half a dozen questions before he was on his feet trembling with anger and demanding to know by what authority he was asked to disclose certain facts. The court ruled against him and from then on his annoyance was on the increase.

Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad the two nattily dressed young women who are charged with having shot at him to kill alternately sobbed and comforted each other, although Miss Graham was by far the morelachrymose.

Mrs. Stokes, the millionaire's wife of less than a year and Miss Stella Singleton, sister of Miss Graham and wife of a wealthy Western mining man, were among the persons who succeeded in getting into the courtroom which 500 failed to do.

Robert M. Morse the girls' counsel asked Stokes if Miss Graham was not a girl of 18, in short dresses, when he met her in 1906.

She told me she was 21; her skirts came to her boot-tops," Stokes replied. Stokes admitted that his memory was bad, especially on dates, that he took Miss Graham automobile riding and bought bon-bons for her. He was then asked about her visit to his country place at Lexington, Ky., in 1907. She went there with her sister, he said, and remained two or three nights.

Letters showing Stokes' relations with Miss Graham during 1907 and 1908, including the one in which he said he was a "cross, crabbed old fellow," were made a part of the record. Among the missives were letters showing that Stokes sent her money while she was in Paris. She had left the Hotel Ansonia, which he owned, owing a bill of $518.

The afternoon session closed with Stokes still on the stand.

Stokes' story of the shooting given in direct examination, was substantially as follows:

"Miss Conrad told me over the telephone late in the afternoon that she had the letters. She insisted upon my calling for them instead of sending a messenger, so I went to her apartment. She met me at the door showed me into the parlor and excused herself saying that she was going for the letters. Soon she came back and locked the parlor door, but I didn't bother about it at the time.

"Miss Conrad looked foolishly around for something to happen, and Miss Graham came creeping along the parlor with a revolver in her hand. She pointed it at me and accused me of blackening the reputation of her relatives.

"She talked so fast I could say nothing. Then she told me to sit down and sign a statement admitting the slander. I refused to do so and she said that many prominent men had disappeared just as I was about to do. Ethel then told me to write my check for $25,000 or I would never leave the place alive.

"I told her that I had put implicit trust in her when I had given her money for the letters and for Miss Graham, and asked her why she told me that Miss Graham was in Europe. Ethel refused to answer and Miss Graham began to dictate a ment for me to sign.

"Miss Graham said to me: 'You sneaked in here. Nobody knew you were coming. You came on the city and we have three men just back of the wall who are listening to every thing.'

"I asked Miss Conrad if it was to be $25,000 or death and she said it was. The Graham girl said the same thing."

"They opened fire on me then. The door was locked and I didn't have a chance to get out. The shots struck my legs and when the door was finally opened three men in the hallway fell on me and began to beat me. The girls shrieked 'Murder' and each was shouting to the other that she had shot me."

JAIL LIMIT IN TARRING CASE

Four Who Confessed Get a Years Sentence Each

Lincoln Center, Nov. 24.—John Schmidt and Sherrill Clark, two of the three men charged with complicity in the tarring of Miss Mary Chamberlain, were found guilty of assault and battery today by a jury in Judge Grover's court. A. N. Shum, the third defendant, was acquitted. The jury was out nearly 24 hours. Sentence was deferred to permit attorneys to argue a motion for a new trial.

Earlier in the day the court imposed sentences of one year each in all, the extreme penalty on Everett G. Clark, Jay Fitzwater, Watson Sergeant and Edward Ricard, assailants of Miss Chamberlain, who pleaded guilty on November 14.

E. G. Clark is president of a Shady Bend Milling company, and was accused of being the leader of the "far party." Fitzwater is a miller, also of Shady Bend, and Sergeant is one of Everett Clark's employees. Ricard already is in jail. The court gave the other three time to arrange their business affairs.

"It was a shocking crime," said Fitzwater's old father, a clergyman, tonight. "I so expressed myself before I knew my son was implicated."

Miss Chamberlain was not present when the verdict was read. It was said she thought a verdict impossible and left town today for Beverly.

One of the jurors, in speaking of how the jury arrived at the verdict, said:

"None considered for a moment the alleged bad reputation of Mary Chamberlain when he came to make up this verdict. We were agreed that that was not the issue," he added.

NAVAL FOOTBALL AT ROCKINGHAM PARK THANKSGIVING DAY

To make doubly sure of an interesting program of sports at Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., on Thanksgiving Day Mr. James J. Kerr, director of amusement, has decided to make room in his already crowded list of events for a U. S. Navy football game in which the eleven from the U. S. S. Tennessee, stationed at the navy yard, and the eleven from the U. S. S. Rhode Island, stationed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, will be conspicuous with the pigskin on the new gridiron which is being marked out at Rockingham Park. The captain of the Tennessee will be Captain of the eleven from Portsmouth and Midshipman T. M. Hewlett, who is captain of the Rhode Island team, which is coached by Lieut. Parkins of the Charlestown Navy Yard team. The rivalry between these two teams is the strongest in the navy, and they have long been seeking an opportunity for a big match game.

This football game will immediately follow the big feature of the day, the Lacrosse game between the Montreal A. A., the champions of 1909 and the French Canadian National champions of 1910, which starts at 1 o'clock, and should run until about 2:30.

Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, and Gov. Bass of New Hampshire have been invited to review the detachments of troops from the state militias of their states who will figure in the military mobilization features on that day and are expected in the various military contest such as the turkey and target shoot, wall-scaling competition, drill competition, etc. The officers and jacksies from the navy yards of both states are taking a keen interest in the football game and they are planning to turn out in large numbers.

A FAMOUS PAINTING RECOVERED

Florence, Italy, Nov. 24.—Pia Anselmi's famous painting, the "Madonna della Stella," which was stolen from the Monastery of San Marco, now used as a museum, last Sunday night, was recovered at midnight last night by a force of carabinieri and police under exciting circumstances.

The police had learned that the thieves were about to take the picture out of Florence. Lines of police were drawn around the locality where it was suspected that the picture had been hidden. About midnight a man appeared with a package under his arm. The firing of revolvers was then heard about the spot.

The police adopted this method of signaling the appearance of the picture to their comrades. The man with the package, convinced that he was in danger of capture, dropped his burden and ran, but was shortly afterward arrested. In the meantime the police officers secured the package, inside of which the "Madonna" was found, entirely undamaged.

Other particulars concerning the theft and the police precautions are kept secret, as the authorities wish to catch not only the actual thieves, but their instigators.

The whole town is excited over the recovery of the picture. Prof. Caracci, director of the Museum of San Marco, wept with satisfaction.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

Says Quinine Isn't Effective in the Cure of Colds and Grippe

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end gripe so promptly as a dose of Page's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken. The most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, fever, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism, pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Page's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and conclusively demonstrated is not only effective in the treatment of colds and gripe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end gripe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Page's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

THE WARLORD'S MAILED FIST

The mailed fist of the German warlord begins to be brandished. Some years ago several German missionaries were murdered and mission houses destroyed in an anti-foreigner outbreak in China. Thereupon the Kaiser sent his brother Henry with a squadron to obtain redress. Germany demanded and obtained as compensation a bay and part of the Chinese coast, together with a "sphere of influence" extending into the interior. In the present revolution there has been constant danger of excesses against resident foreigners, but the revolutionary leaders, taught by experience, have sedulously sought to prevent any such thing, and so far they have been remarkably successful. Until now, no outrages against missionaries or other foreigners have been reported. The revolutionists desired above all things not to provoke foreign intervention, and they saw that nothing would provoke it more quickly than to have the mobs get out of hand and take venting their prejudices against the foreigners.

It was likely, however, that sooner or later at some point or points the populace would prove uncontrollable and the missionaries would suffer. This now appears to have occurred at Shantung a city far in the interior 900 miles northwest of Peking, the place to which the imperial family fled at the time of the Boxer outbreak and the occupation of Peking by the allied international forces. Shantung is said to have a large Mohammedan element, which is apt to be more intolerant and fanatical than the Buddhists are. Fanaticism, and besides Shantung, being so remote and out of touch with the ports and places where foreign influences were most felt, was in a way to be more strongly anti-foreign. At all events, it is pretty certain that what was feared has taken place in Shantung and that the missions there have been attacked and several missionaries killed. One of the victims is said to be an American, Mr. Beckman, and another of those named is Philip Mainers, said to be a German subject but as a missionary in Chinese postal service.

This is enough. A Berlin despatch reports that the German government has instructed its representatives in China to inquire into the circumstances and it is added that the measures to be taken will depend on the reports received. At the same time it is announced that German cruisers have arrived at Chefoo. This is significant. It seems to mean that Germany is preparing on the ground and ready to act according to circumstances. If it took the concession of a city and harbor, and sphere of influence to make good the murder of a missionary or two before, how much will it take to satisfy the world for the loss of Philip Mainers, provided, he has been killed? Furthermore it is reported that French missionaries have been killed at some station in the south of China. If that is so, how much territory will it take to pay for them?

The United States, so far as is concerned, is not in the land grabbing business. It has already more territory than it wants in the far east. If Americans in China are in danger it will do what it can to protect them. It already has a number of naval vessels in Chinese waters ready for regiment to be sent from the Philippines as a precautionary measure. If Americans have been killed by mobs in China, this country will demand adequate reparation, but nothing unreasonable. And pursuing its settled policy, it will stand for the integrity of China and will oppose anything that looks like dismemberment of the empire or republic, whichever it may be. Of course nobody knows what is going to come out of this revolution. A state of civil war exists and there may ensue anarchy and chaos such as to force intervention. But having such a necessity the American policy will doubtless be to let the Chinese and Manchus, the republicans and imperialists, fight it out among themselves and settle their affairs as best they can without foreign interference. This may not be the disposition of the predatory powers, especially Germany, but land-grabbing will not be countenanced by the United States at least.—Portland Press.

Origin of a Postal Custom.

The steamship Oregon was lost off Fire Island on March 11, 1886. She was rammed by a coastwise schooner, remaining afloat for half an hour, a time which made it possible to save every person aboard. When her mail was fished up and delivered the pieces were stamped with a statement that they had been in the wreck, the first instance of a practice which is now employed by direction of the international postal union. The credit for this simple device is believed to be due to Edward M. Morgan, at that time in a subordinate position in the New York postoffice, who foresaw that a few minutes' work with a rubber stamp would forestall an infinitude of complaint.—New York Sun.

When Turkey Was Great.

Turkey at her height was in possession of every famous city of the ancient world except Rome. She held by the sword Athens, Corinth, Sparta, Greece, Thebes, Constantinople, Antioch, Seleucia, Ctesiphon, Babylon, Nineveh, Baghdad, Jerusalem, Damascus, Mecca, Medina, Alexandria, Cairo, Memphis, Egyptian Thebes and Carthage. Some were in ruins, but the Turk was master where they had been.

A Frank Preference.

"Doesn't your wife want the privilege of going to the polls and casting a ballot as an enlightened and responsible citizen?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but she'd rather have a new hat."—Washington Post.

His Failing.

"Harker—Doesn't Cutler, the tailor, remind you of a doctor?"

"Harker—I should say not. He reminds me of that little bill I owe him every time we meet."—London Telegraph.

SHERIFF AND PRISONERS DROWNED

Ellsworth, Me., Nov. 24.—The body of Deputy Sheriff Edward Finn and the body of Joseph Clough, one of the prisoners, were found in Green Lake today, removing all doubt that the two Hancock officers and their two prisoners were drowned while attempting to cross the lake yesterday. The lake is being dragged for the other three bodies.

The members of the party were: John E. Webster, aged about 45, high sheriff of Hancock County, of Ellsworth.

Edward Finn, about 42, deputy sheriff, Ellsworth.

Joseph D. Clough, 30, prisoner, Ellsworth Falls.

Arthur E. Colson, 23, prisoner, Ellsworth Falls.

The officers went into the woods yesterday to bring out the two men who were suspected of robbing the cottage of John Thornton of Bangor, at the head of Green Lake. After securing their prisoners at their camp, it would have been natural for them to suggest crossing the half-mile stretch of water at the head of the lake and thus save a walk of three miles.

SUNCOOK VALLEY'S STATUS.

Directors of New Hampshire Railroad Met Today and Adjourned Without Action on B. & M. Offer.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 24.—The future status of the Suncook Valley Railroad remained undetermined after the adjourned meeting of the stockholders here today. At the last meeting the stockholders declined to accept a proposition submitted in a lengthy letter by Pres. Charles S. Melton of the Boston & Maine Railroad, which has operated the Suncook Valley for many years under lease, for an exchange of stock, which would result in smaller dividends to the Suncook Valley stockholders.

The officers of the road reported at today's meeting that no reply had been received from Pres. Melton to a request made by the officers for some arrangement more advantageous to the Suncook Valley stockholders. Adjournment thereupon was taken until Dec. 6.

After the meeting officers of the road said in reply to inquiries that the Suncook Valley would not cease operation if the Boston & Maine declined to render it assistance, as one day's suspension would cause a forfeiture of the charter. The present lease of the road to the Boston & Maine will expire on Jan. 1 next.

The A-B-C of the GAS Industry

So the People May Know

FOR LABOR. Too little is known of the faithful men who labor 24 hours a day 365 days in the year to maintain an uninterrupted gas supply. The use of gas has become so common and so much of a daily necessity that it is taken for granted sometimes, that the service simply happens. Nothing is further from the truth. It is only when there is trouble that the consumer gives thought to the supply. Then it is like missing water when the well runs dry. The gas supply is as perfect as human skill and ingenuity can make it, but after all the human element is there, and we ask you to remember this sometimes when everything is not just as you would like it to be.

GAME CANCELED.

The football game between the Portsmouth high and the Deering high, scheduled for the playground this afternoon, has been cancelled owing to the rain. If it did clear away, the grounds would be too wet and muddy that the game would have been almost impossible.

Rain ceased to fall at 2 o'clock this morning, and shortly after quite a snow-storm set in, which continued until The Chronicle went to press.

HOW TO TREAT PIMPLES

It is really remarkable how Cadum, the new remedy, causes pimples to disappear. Bad cases are frequently relieved in a few days. Cadum causes pimples to dry up and fall off leaving the skin soft and smooth. Pimples are a disease of the skin, and are not caused by bad blood, as many people suppose. Cadum helps these disgusting blemishes because it is applied direct to the trouble. It is an antiseptic and prevents infection from discharges. Cadum should be immediately applied to a pimple, scratch, sore or wound, as neglect of these small troubles sometimes proves serious.

CURIOUS CONTRASTS.

Authors Whose Writings and Methods of Life Were Contradictory.

A man of genius when he writes a book and "all the gods comes rushing into his soul" is in an abnormal state, and hence lives of men of letters have often been in glaring contrast to their writings. Montaigne tells us that he always observed superlatively opinions to be accompanied with antithetical morals. On the other hand, the most humanitarian professors of eucharism have often lived like ascetics or trappists. Some of the best sea songs have been written by men who never sailed a salt water breeze; stilling war songs have been written by timid men and women who would have quailed at the sight of a mouse, and hymns steeped in the very spirit of devotion have been written by men of "foulmouth" morality, who were never less at home than in a Christian church. Charles Lamb was ready to wager that Milton's morning hymn in Paradise was penned at midnight, and we know positively that Thompson, who sang the praises of "rising in the 'Seasons,'" used to sleep all night. Sir Richard Steele's discourse, eloquently of temperance when he was not drunk. Woodworth in his "Old Oaken Bucket" sang the praise of cold water under the inspiration of brandy. Dr. Johnson, who wrote so well on politeness, later repudiated his opponents with "You lie!" Burns was a compound of "dirt and duty." Rousseau, who was always filling people's eyes with tears, he teased and slandered his benefactors in turn and sent his children to the foundling hospital. When More proposed to send to go and see Melrose Abbey, as Sir Walter had described it, he moonlighted, "Pooh, pooh," said Scott, "you don't suppose I ever saw it by moonlight!"—William Matthews, Sainte Beuve's Monday Chats.

HOLES IN MACARONI.

Device by Which the Hollow Strips of Dough Are Produced.

Haven't you often asked, "How do they get the holes in macaroni?" You may undoubtedly have, and unless you have visited a macaroni factory you are probably still in doubt. Interesting methods are employed in producing this food into the form in which it is placed before the public.

After the dough has been well mixed and kneaded in a powerful machine it is ready to form into macaroni, which is of a tube shape about one-fourth inch in diameter, or spaghetti, which is a solid stick shape of about one-eighth inch in diameter. This is done by forcing the dough under hydraulic pressure through a cylinder with a flat circular bronze die or mold at the bottom. The macaroni die is full of holes, about one-fourth inch in diameter, and each hole has a small pin in the center of it, which is attached to one side of the hole. This pin forms the hole in the macaroni and divides the dough on one side as it starts through the hole, but before the dough reaches the end of the hole the divided side comes together and remains so, making a perfect tube. The spaghetti die contains only plain holes about one-eighth inch in diameter arranged in groups. When macaroni and spaghetti come from the press or cylinders they are cut into certain lengths, the length depending upon whether the curing or drying is to be done on trays or by hanging over rods.

In curing or drying macaroni the length of time varies according to the process employed and to atmospheric conditions outside the factory and the standard of quality maintained. Some makers require only three days, while others take as many as six days. Omaha Bee.

American Sunshine.

Until a man has made the experiment it is impossible to believe how vivid and how severe our British eyes is the glare of the American sun, and also how impossible it is, no matter how strong British prejudice may be, that regard to play golf in the country which all the traditions of Scotland prescribe as decent. Very soon the British golfing in America will have cast from him that worse than superfluous garment and will be going with light heart and light raiment—so called "in shirt sleeves"—like the American himself.—London Globe.

Superior.

Little Nelly told little Anita what she termed a "little fib." Anita—A fib is the same as a story, and a story is the same as a lie. Nelly—No, it's not. Anita—Yes, it is, because my father said so, and my father is a professor at the university.

Nelly—I don't care if he is. My father is a real estate man, and he knows more about lying than your father does.—United Presbyterian.
